Slow food town plays hosts to delegates

02 June 2008

A FACT-finding delegation from South Korea visited Aylsham last week as the only UK stop-off on a tour of European "slow food" towns.

The 20 representatives were from four Korean towns which are part of the international Cittaslow movement celebrating quality of local life, including culture heritage and produce.

The visitors from Shina, Wano, Jangheung and Damyang were shown around Aylsham where they had a tour of the church and the town hall.

People from Aylsham have previously been to Cittaslow towns in Italy, where the movement was founded.

Broadland District Council chairman Jo Cottingham said: "It was a pleasure to meet our visitors.

"They greatly enjoyed their lunch of local Norfolk produce including local ham and

They greatly enjoyed their lunch of local Norfolk produce including local ham and asparagus, and the strawberries were a particular success.

"We gave them each a goodie bag - one of our Aylsham cloth bags - with some souvenirs of their visit. We very much hope that communication between the two countries will continue."
